SOCIAL CORNER POEM.

The Dying Nun.

Let the air blow in upon me,
Let me see the midnight sky,
Stand back, sisters, from around me,
God! it is so hard to die!

Raise the pillow up, dear Martha;
Beneath it, you were kind;
Come and see this little child,
Here I leave you all behind.

Hold my hand, as cold and frozen;
Once it was so soft and white,
And this ring that falls down from it,
Changed my finger round so tight.

Little ring that hangs so tight,
That let me see it there,
Only a plain golden clasp,
With a band of Douglas' hair.

Sister Martha, are you near me?
You were kinder than the rest;
Lift my head and let me lean it
While I live, upon your breast.

I was thinking of some music
That I heard long ago;
Ah! how sweet the music is,
In the chapel, soft and low.

Oh! my father, Oh! my mother;
Will you not forgive the past
When you hear a stranger tell you
How your wife, Keturah, died at last?

Out of all that used to love me,
Who will weep when I am dead?
Only you, dear Sister Martha!
Keep the last watch by my bed.

Rest a strain of heavenly music
Drowns the holy midnight dream,
Still I hear the wild wails pealing,
And I float away with them.

I am coming, Douglas, Douglas,
Where you are, I, too, am there;
Freed at last, I come, my dearest,
Death gives back your little Clare.

Sister Martha, Sister Martha,
Has the moon gone down so soon?
Ah, the cell seems cold as winter,
Though I sleep in your room.

Sisters, in your white beds lying,
Sleeping in the June moonlight,
Through your dreams come these three
Messages.

Clara dies alone tonight!

RUTH FINDS A JOKER.

Mr. Editor and Social Corner Sisters:

The Bulletin is a new and interesting feature of the Corner; and it looks as if we should have to have card books, as well as account books, to completely meet the requirements of the department.

I have come to be an admirer of J. P. T. A way of saying things, and I am impressed that her short letters must be a pleasure to the Social Corner editor, who desires to keep the variety of the letters well sustained.

In finding that "A Dreamer" of Washington, D. C., is a good joker—a real card exchange has demonstrated that. She has my card for a pretty card and a clever retort. I smile when I think of it.

A peep into an up to date bathroom is only less refreshing than the bath itself.

What is good for the Social Corner friends.

BALSAH TIR.

WHAT IS GOOD FOR NIGHT SWEATS.

Dear Editor Social Corner: Will you please favor a constant reader and an old writer of the Corner by asking the Cornerites in general what is good for night sweats? Many of them know of good old-fashioned remedies for other things, I know some of them must have a cure for sweating at night.

Thanking you in advance, MY HT.

Norwich.

(A tub partly filled with cold water placed under the bed has been known to cure night sweats when nothing else would.—The Ed.)

GOOD NEWS

TESTIMONIAL

"I had been a great sufferer for years before learning of Viburn-O-Gin. I had misplacement, fainting spells, constant headache, and other female troubles, which made me feel very weak. I tried different doctors, but none gave me relief, so I took Viburn-O-Gin and it relieved me so much that I want you to spread the news of what it has done for me. It certainly will do as much for other sick women."

Ladies Everywhere

are glad to know of the wonderful benefit that Viburn-O-Gin has always been to sufferers of their sex.

Thousands of ladies spread the good news among their neighbors and friends.

Others write letters for publication, that suffering sisters, unknown to them, may learn about it in the newspapers.

So the good work goes on.

Viburn-O-Gin is a purely vegetable compound, containing no harmful properties, and is active and specific in its curative action on the womanly organs and functions.

To young and old it is highly recommended for the treatment of all forms of female troubles.
